Maybe someone else knows when this was stocked last, or maybe you can find that info on the PFBC website.

If it hasn't been stocked since last spring, it's very likely that in your 4 days fishing there, not a single trout has seen your flies. Because they aren't there.

Learning when and where to fish is more important than anything else. You have to figure out where the trout are.

Don't burn yourself out now, when the stream probably does not have any trout, and when the water is still very cold.

Save some energy for when the fishing conditions are actually good.
