

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Questions About Adams

Re: Questions About Adams

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2013/2/16 14:56:25

URL:

If you are going to choose just one to tie and fish, choose the parachute.

Because the parachute works well both on flat water and fast water.

The standard tie works well in fast, broken water, but not so well on slow, smooth water.

As you fish up freestone streams you will find some sections with tumbling, riffly, pocket-water, and some sections with glassy smooth pools. With a parachute you can fish both types of water and do well, so there's no need to switch flies.

It's good to tie up some parachutes in other colors too. Especially some Yellow Adams parachute style, for the yellowish bugs that start hatching in mid to late season. Just use a yellow body. And a light ginger hackle mixed in with the grizzly hackle, instead of dark ginger.