

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Winter Fishing advice

Re: Winter Fishing advice

Author: : David

Date: : 2013/2/16 19:57:43

URL:

Don't know the bushkill, but if it has stoneflies...they are relatively active in cold weather.
Also some big streamers to fish slow and deep.

Agree with the above for winter, the extreme sizes work better for me....either very big or very small. Hatches would likely be midges or bwo's (both very small). PTs do well imitating the bwo's, but in smaller sizes (I'd even say 18-24 nymphs).