

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Winter Fishing advice

Re: Winter Fishing advice

Author: : Phish_On

Date: : 2013/2/16 21:56:13

URL:

Low an slow. But I don't agree with super small nymphs in the winter. The trout want to exert as little energy as possible to get a meal when the water is real cold. An if they are more prone to take a bigger meal. Having said that, I also with fish a big stonefly or the like failed with a super small midge or caddis larve. I agree with the buggers tho. Dead drifted threw runs our quarter away an slow strips. Just my .02$