I also had really good success fishing them on Friday up near me. I was using the same techniques as you. The color I use is a mixture of two. I combine UV Pink and orange. With the Harman's competition coming up I am almost exclusively practicing high stick/tight lineing. I am not to far away from the L.L and the Poconos. If you ever want to try to get out we could pick each other's brain. Funny my lead fly was a anchor caddis pattern as well and had some good success with it.
