Had a similar day on Saturday although not on LL. Had similar results with the GRHE in the same size hook/bead than the frenchies. When I first started tying I wasn't getting proportions right so I just wrapped the pheasant all the way up like a frenchie wo the hotspot. Funny that's what the "pros" use, I was just a scrub... I'm finding fish in the slower water below the riffs and feel better at a distance with the Indy versus getting closer tight lining right now. Need to get better/more confident tight lining at a distance and in water that's not totally broken up
