

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Dan Bailey Waders

Dan Bailey Waders

Author: : NickR

Date: : 2013/2/19 20:29:35

URL:

I recently purchased a pair of Dan Bailey Barebones waders. I don't think these waders have made much of a dent in the Pennsylvania market but I tried on multiple pairs of them at the fly fishing show in Somerset and in terms of quality I would say these waders can compete with the best. They are the most comfortable and form fitting waders I have ever purchased.

They are lightweight and breathable and coated with Teflon. Water literally beads off of them. They offer some more affordable waders for the frugal shopper as well as some higher end expensive waders. I may be purchasing another pair so I have a backup.