

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Tying Thread

Re: Tying Thread

Author: : FrequentTyer

Date: : 2013/2/19 20:35:36

URL:

Ask 10 tyers get 12 answers.

Lately I have been using Uni 8/0 for everything. That was not always true, and probably will change again. For me personally, anything less than 8/0 encourages sloppy tying, so I avoid the thin stuff to hopefully avoid developing bad habits. I was using 14/0 for dry flies, but found that 8/0 makes posting wings a lot easier and stuck with it from there.

Thread is cheap so try them all and develop you own preference/prejudice.

Mike.