If you are going to buy a pair of waders with the boot attached whether it laces up or not I think is a dumb idea. As often as I go I will go through 2 or 3 pairs of boots before I get a hole in my waders. Boots just don't hold up and I'd much rather replace the boot then the whole waders if they are attached. I do like orvis boots though...I've had one pair for about 7 months the soles ripped off and the studs got lost and I was able to get brand new boots for free...so far this pair is holding up well. I don't like their waders though I like Hodgman for neoprines and Cabelas or Hodgeman for breathables. Between my brother and myself we've probably gone through 6 pairs of boots 2 pairs of waders in the last 3 years.
