Gfen may know more about the pawl settings than me but there will still be a click both ways just less resistance when reel line in if they are set correctly.

I also have an Orvis Madison which is like yours but has a small amount of drag adjustment via a knob on the backside.

The size was on the foot, in the rivet hole. I believe that the sizes were similar to other Orvis Reels.

III being 4/5 line (3" spool) and IV being 6/7 line (3 3/8").
