

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : little shenango river, mercer county

Re: little shenango river, mercer county

Author: : fishingnoob

Date: : 2013/2/20 16:04:33

URL:

Out of the times I fished there streamerguy, the first was behind the adams hotel. It was the time this past summer where I first caught the river chubs...if you look through my posts on my profile you can check out some pics I took of the stream. It's a nice spot where the shenango and little shenango meet. Thats partially why I want to do the stocking to see if they will stock there cause its a fantastic spot, however its also the lower limit. The other spot was below the race ave. bridge but I wasnt there for very long. Two spots I'm interested in checking out are at the college ave bridge below Thiel College, and the iron bridge by williamson road.

and yes with the stocking on weekdays thats also a problem for me because I will most likely be working :/