OK...I know I am new here...but I gotta say that while shopping for a new flyrod I find myself thinking about my girlfriend. I want my new flyrod to be more responsive and have more flex.....I want to be able to feel it all the way down to the butt....And I want my new flyrod to have more action...be fast at times and slow at times....Capable of delicate presentations when needed....and to be a cannon when needed. Nice components is a plus too....

I think I have issues...
