by IdratherbePhishing on 2013/2/21 14:07:44 I would but I'm used to what I already have. I know I will probably seem weird saying this but usually I just run a straight piece of tippet (5X) right to my fly line. Cast great. But I did recently get the tippet rings and IMO the best way to go.

Not at all weird. I nail knot an 8 inch piece of Maxima to the fly line and attach a tippet ring then I run 5 or 6 ft of straight 3x down to my fly (On small rods on small streams)
