And that is the question exactly - why does the bottom not currently have wilds? The bottom part - from East Branch the whole way to the Clarion - used to have wilds wilds year round, not just migratory fish. And within the past 10 years, the bottom part of the stream doesn't hold stockies real well either.

This is why I am so interested in the gauges, especially on Spring. The creek has some decent hatches and a ton of baitfish and crayfish.
