I always figured drowned adults and emergers. Minnows makes sense too.

I'll just say they are emergent Adamses and Royal Wulffs to stifle the argument. A fake bug that we made up. The day you show me a cheeto tree in the wild, I'll probably give you a hug... but after that, <insert outlandish wager cliché here>. Yet, I'll pound a bag of the things. It's all in the presentation, just ask Chester Cheetah.
