October. I love all the colors, in the trees and the fish. The leaves on the water are a pita, but you gotta take the good with the bad. Plus I really like the crisp feeling in the air.

Dear wildtrout,

lv2nymph sums up my thoughts quite well.

I enjoy May and I really enjoy catching a good Hendrickson hatch, but with the way hatches have been off time so consistently over recent years I find that I enjoy the Fall much better.

You still have chances to fish caddis and BWO's but nothing snaps you out of a frosty morning funk like a good fish whacking a streamer because he knows his time to eat well is growing short.

Regards,

Tim Murphy 😊
