I can't speak for Redington however my friend owns one and is very fond of it. I've never heard anything bad about them. I can speak for Allen, I own an Allen ATS and an Allen reel, once I got it I've never looked back, very happy with it. Just like everyone else said, the guys there are really helpful and stand by their products. Something to keep in mind, you may be able to take a ride to the show in Lancaster coming up. You might be able to lay hands on them to help you decide.
