I have been fly fishing for about a year and some change at this point. I currently am set on buying a lamson konic reel but am scratching my head on a rod. I would like to stay close to the 100 to 150ish range with a five weight... Could someone please give me some suggestions? I'm trying to get something that I could use for a couple years before I join the I have 800 bucks to spend on a helios 2 club. Any suggestions would be greatly appreciated. Also, if anyone has any word on the Konic good or bad that would be sweet as well. Thanks in advance and stay phunky my friends.
