Great story. It reminds me of a wild brown I targeted several years ago. I came close to catching him a couple of times. One time I lost him because my hookset was not good and the other because of a little nick in my tippet(I learned a valuable lesson on that one and now if I feel even the slightest nick I take the time to put on fresh tippet material). Anyway it took me most of the summer but I finally got him on a beetle. That fish made my year. Again congratulations on a great story and a fine trout.
