Looking to purchase this rod. I want to use it for a little better drifts, and want more contact with my flies while czech nymphing. I want to order from Allen, but this is the only model they have in the size and weight I am looking for.

Does anyone have experience with this size/weight XA or the XA in general. I will be adding a Risen Ithcus reel to this as well, in Gun metal/ Silver. I think the outfit will look nice but that is not what I am going for on this. I know the risen will perform but I know nothing about the XA.

Thanks in advance for input.
