Do a search one Euro/Czech nymphing. Should be all you need to know. I am still just getting my feet wet but I enjoy the success I have been having lately. There are many guys on this site who are very proficient at it.

I had a post on this, that is in the tips/ tricks forum. Weave through the negative comments and bashes, and you will see a wealth of information that others have posted to help me out with learning this style.

I still prefer indicator fishing but Czech/Euro nymphing is growing on me. I am adding a rod better suited for this style to my arsenal as well.
