

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Nymphing

Re: Nymphing

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2013/2/25 14:58:02

URL:

I'm not much of a nymph, but my initial reaction is like the others: it sounds like your set-up is correct, but you need "time on the water" to begin to know as a second-nature, where to fish and where in the drift the "take" is most likely to occur. This is the place that your tension and slack control are most crucial. You could be "mending" at the wrong times throughout the drift.