
Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Buyers remorse

Re: Buyers remorse

Author: : mike_richardson

Date: : 2013/2/27 10:41:00

URL:

http://www.risenfly.com/collections/f ... /products/anakim-fly-reel

One of our sponsors offers a totally waterproof reel in the larger sizes you are looking for. You did not ask about a reel but i thought this would fit perfectly for you SW outfit.

I have a 9' 5 weight for trout, but just purchased a 4wt reel and will be purchasing a 10' 4 wt rod as well. I know that the 4wt is close to the 5 weight but for the style of fishing i am moving toward the 9' 5 weight is just not touchy enough for me, however it is great for chucking larger heavier flies. If i am going to be nymphing i will be using the 10' (longer) 4 wt (lighter and touchier rod) if i will be using streamers and such i will use the 9' 5wt (shorter faster action) to get the results I want. I think often times the rod will suit your style of fishing. Hope this helps.