well for now the problem is avoided... i just settled on using 18 dry hooks.

the shank is slightly shorter, but for now I will manage. Live and learn i suppose. At this stage i feel it is more important to tie the pattern multiple times just for the sake of learning it and improving my skills....I've been tying for about 2 months. I completed a class at Neshannock Creek Fly Shop in January and have been tying like a fiend since!
