@sandfly, I use beads and I don't lift or snag and I prefer not to be able to see the fish. As with any method of fishing, one can lift and snag all day if he is inclined to do so. I just think trout beads are another type of bait. Although they are not "flies" and are not legal to use in FF only sections on the Salmon River I still like them. And they do pick up the bead thinking it's an egg. I have one fishing buddy who hates beads and is against using them, but everytime I catch a nice trout I make it a point to exclaim "blue trout bead" or whatever color I was using.
