Ok, please tell me who has the vision to track a 6mm trout bead that is 30'+ away and 3-5' deep? Seems like a poor choice for lifting.

I really like trout beads for trib fishing. Egg flies are lame to tie and trout beads are a nice alternative.

Pretty realistic imitation too. I have been satisfied with my catch rates while using them. Like the other guy said, they are real cheap, like $2-3 for 50.

superman, eagles...

like my buddy says, if he can see em he can catch em.

you can always tell a guy that is lifting, he is hooking up every 5 minutes but rarely lands one.
