

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : 2 weight rod - Will I really ever use it??

2 weight rod - Will I really ever use it??

Author: : milleger

Date: : 2013/3/1 8:50:06

URL:

I picked up a Redington Classic Trout recently and got a nice deal on a new Ross Evolution LT size 0 to pair up with it. It's a nice little set up, I'm just worried it will not see much time on the water.

I fish mainly the Gunpowder in MD with an occasional outing to Spring Creek, Muddy Creek or Yellow Breeches. I have not gotten the chance to fish small mountain streams for Brookies unfortunately. Oh yeah, and a new baby at home has seriously put a hurting on my fishing time. With that being said, will I ever use this set up?

Here's the other option.. return the CT, sell a few items that I have gotten nice deals on lately, and invest in a nice 4 weight instead. Most of my fishing is with 4 weights, so it might make more sense to invest in something that will get more of use, rather than a lightweight specialty set up...

What do you think??