

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : 2 weight rod - Will I really ever use it??

Re: 2 weight rod - Will I really ever use it??

Author: : WildTigerTrout

Date: : 2013/3/1 12:13:02

URL:

I have a St. Croix "Avid" series rod in 7'6" 2 weight. I use it quite a bit during the summer months fishing tricos and terrestrials on several nearby limestoners. They are a specialized tool and are not designed to throw weight or cast in the wind. They also work best with smaller flies no bigger than about 14. I own a number of rods so it does not hurt to have a couple of specialized outfits. I would not buy one as a all-around rod though.