

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Lost landing net - Donegal Creek

Lost landing net - Donegal Creek

Author: : wgmiller

Date: : 2013/3/1 13:28:21

URL:

I was out today on the Donegal from Rt. 23 up to just below the "horse barn" (I actually stopped at the deep pool just below the house next to the farm field). Somewhere along the way my landing net detached from its holder and I didn't realize until I had my daughter in tow from kindergarten. I went back and looked from the parking spot at the horse barn down to where I left the stream, but nada. There were two guys fishing below me and I'm hoping one of them may have picked it up.

And before the obligatory question comes up, no I didn't have my name on it as I thought it was securely attached, but evidently not.

The net is a woodframe Cortland with magnet attached to the handle.