One thing people forget or don't know about the Salmon when choosing a rod is the CFS of the water. It's not about over playing a fish. If it's running high & you need more weight to get your fly down it will be no fun casting it with a 5 or 6wt rod. Then what do you do when you hook a fish & you have to keep it out of the rapids? Again you need the power of your rod to turn the fish.
