FWIW -

I've fished the lower part of millstone creek a couple times - just the last half mile above it's junction with the clarion. This was during the last 3 years now.

And I caught mostly, what appeared to be recently stocked fish. And I got the feeling that it was a put and take fishery - in that section anyway.

However, I also caught the largest tiger trout I've ever seen there. It was a beautifully colored fish of almost 16 inches in length.

I figured it had to have either held over in the creek, or swam up from the clarion
