So if someone didn't believe in God would the trout even exist? God really doesn't have the time to micro manage such things.

The waters of the Commonwealth and its inhabitants belong to the people of the Commonwealth. The PFBC is an agency, designated by the representatives elected by the people the Commonwealth , charged with managing those resources for the good of the Commonwealth. If you don't like how they are being managed? Elect different representatives and get them to change it.

Just my spontaneous take.
