

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Bucks County Toothy Critters

Bucks County Toothy Critters

Author: : thebassman

Date: : 2013/3/3 14:12:04

URL:

With all this talk about toothy critters and success threads I was wondering if anyone knew of some spots in Bucks County where I could target pickerel, musky, or the like. I have searched the forum and read somewhere where the Delaware Canal was full of pickerel, but not so much anymore. I was wondering if it still had a good population.

I am looking for areas that can be accessed by foot/wade. I know Lake Nockamixon holds toothy fish, but how easy is it to fish for these from the bank?

There are a few fish I want to target this year and scratch this off my fish bucket list....a toothy fish being one as well as carp and brook trout!

Thanks,
Steven