I know Spring Creek pretty well and I have fished with guys who claim they religiously catch 40-50 on it. They have NEVER caught close to that many when I have fished with them and my 15 were actually more than them. I would love to see somebody have a 50 fish day.

Allan, I've fished Spring Creek a LOT. I've topped 50 exactly once. And that was with live minnows in the winter, which is kind of like cheating, lol. With fly gear, high single digits to low teens is normal (i.e. average). I have worse and better days, of course. My absolute best days there put me into the low 30's, and that mostly occurred during the start of the BWO hatch, before word of the BWO hatch gets out, and while the trout are gorging themselves on the first major hatch after a long winter.
