

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Ugly Clarks Cr Stockers

Ugly Clarks Cr Stockers

Author: : odizz17

Date: : 2013/3/4 8:14:44

URL:

I was wondering if anyone could shed some light on this... Has anyone else noticed that within the last few years, the browns that have been stocked in Clarks Cr have been absolutely FUGLY?!?! Almost looks like a halfassed attempt to stock tigers in lieu of browns... At the same time, it makes it a no brainer to compare this streams stockers to the wild browns it has to offer. Minus the snipped gill plates, the stocked brookies are legit. I don't fish Stony very much, and I don't remember the browns looking like that in Wiconisco Cr from what I can remember. Also the stocker browns in Manada don't have the same markings. I will have to upload pics from my camera for everyone to know what I'm talking about i guess. However, for those of us that fish Clarks regularly should know what I'm talking about. I do appreciate the states stocking efforts, but the quality of fish in the last few years has been sub par at best in my opinion.