Hello everyone! So I've been fly fishing for a little over a year now I got into it after I came home from Afghanistan and was looking for a outlet. I moved in June to a area just north of Williamsport from Colorado. I have so many questions. I was told there is a fishing season here is this true? In Colorado you can fish all year. Are there any groups of guys that get together and fish all the time? I'd like to get out once a week but I'm a little intimidated venturing out by myself. Thanks guys I really look forward to being part of this community.
