

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : good article on brookie restoration (w/ image of WVA brookie, big as a largemouth)

Re: good article on brookie restoration (w/ image of WVA brookie, big as a largemouth)

Author: : geebee

Date: : 2013/3/4 21:48:54

URL:

I would think that the best records would be found with those who first studied the native Indians.

I know that is the case in southern Maine. Its hard to imagine now that every single tree you see in CT, RI,MA and southern Nh & ME are all new growth.

A wampanoag Indian told me that in southern new England that there are no trees older than 120 years old.

Its to their records I'd look for photos, stories etc.