Thank you for the post, Fishink. We need reminded that the foes of public access still lurk out there. beaver may not have been making much noise lately, but don't think for one minute that he and his minions and supporters are not ready to greedily grab up more waters for their schemes.

(I was a good old man yesterday and did not comment about kreh being a true fraud in that he is a beaver supporter, but I have no respect for him, humphreys, and the becks, who have made their living selling articles, photos, etc. to mags supported by average anglers but who have given their support to beaver and his evil empire.)

Anyhow, thank you for this reminder that beaver et. al. are still out there, just waiting to rob from the poor and average and sell to the rich.
