

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Dry Fly Hackle?

Re: Dry Fly Hackle?

Author: : bigjohn58

Date: : 2006/9/23 11:52:39

URL:

I use nothing but Whittings also. Its just a better feather then Metz by far. The Whittings lay out so nice and being able to tie more then one fly with a feather is a big plus. Its just hard to find Whittings products...thats about my only complaint oh and watch buying the 1/2 or 1/4 saddles because I purchased a grizzly in the larger sizes #14 and bigger and ended up with all #14 feathers. I usually get the silver #2, 1/4 or 1/2 saddles because of the price.

I am looking for just small packs to tie like 6 or so flies with. I saw them one place but not Whittings but I'm not going to be picky with the name brand. I want just a couple of dark, medium, and light duns to tie up a few hendrexson and slate drakes but I don't fish either of them often enough to see the need to purchase a pack of feathers that will tie me up 100+ flies. I only want to tie up 15 or so total for myself. Any suggestions?