Many times I fish tandem wet flies (two flies, I rarely fish three at a time). One thing I have been doing which I really like is to tie the point fly on about 16-18"piece of tippet tied off of the eye of the top fly. I catch about the same proportion of fish off of either fly. I think setting it up this way allows the top fly to move and flutter freely with the currents. The best part is no messing with droppers and no tangles = more fishing time.
