After ten years of exile in Florida, I've recently moved back to Pa..... I am in the process of restoring FF arsenal. alot of the gear I m looking at is pretty Sweet and hard to decide on so the final decisions for me comes down to is it made in America.... Unfortunately none of it is!!! Bottom line I want the best bang for my buck..... But are there any manufacturers. Actually in America????

Many fly rods are made in the USA.

For example, all Sage rods are made in the US. And Sage has some very good rods in the moderate price ranges.

From their website: "Where are Sage rods made?"

All Sage rods are made at our manufacturing facility on Bainbridge Island, in Washington state, USA."

With your criteria: 1) Made in USA 2) Good value, I recommend checking out the lower priced Sage rods.

Many PA fly shops carry them.
