

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Shad fishing

Re: Shad fishing

Author: : icyguides

Date: : 2013/3/13 14:26:26

URL:

Yes i use full sinking lines or sink tips, sometimes even floating lines, depending on water levels. I just got a shooting head setup in the fall that i plan on using, but haven't tried it out down there yet and my casting with it is pretty crappy so far. The water levels fluctuate rapidly because it's right below a dam, so i usually end up changing a few times every trip. The clouser in the front helps keep it down a little, probably about as much as a split shot.