I just changed my rio gold line out on my 5wt for rio gold again this year. i like the line. lasted me about four years. it still worked fine but was starting to get surface cracks. i've also used triangle taper and rio dt on my shorter 4 and 5 wt rods. like them all but think rio is better. you can get the rio gold in a few different colors, you may have to order it if you want something other than the yellow/gold combo. have had an bright orange fly lines as well. the yellow is not near as bright as you might think. go look at the color you might be pleasantly surprised.
