Don't be too hard on yourself. Dries are not the easiest flies to tie. I think your ties look decent. I agree, the wings on the first picture look a bit long to me, but depending who you talk to they will tell you longer wings are more effective because the fish can pick up the tips of the longer wings up quicker within their cone of vision. I never really liked to tie dries because to me they were always more difficult. Keep up the good work, your doing fine!
