I would go for the access. it's a great rod for anyone and is far superior to the clearwater IMHO. you'll find a 5wt to be more fun for most of the year but you can use it for steel too. the access 5wt has a lot of backbone and I would not be afraid to send you to erie with it. 9' or 8 1/2' 5wt will be just fine for you. If you get the access remember that if you are unhappy with the rod for any reason Orvis will take it back no questions asked. Also if it breaks you have a 25 year unconditional warranty to protect you.
