

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Tulpehocken Creek, Berks Co, 3/10/13

Re: Tulpehocken Creek, Berks Co, 3/10/13

Author: : wbranch

Date: : 2013/3/14 4:24:42

URL:

"Because the herons eat 50% of the fish that are stocked."

This is a very interesting comment because I was there again yesterday and towards the end of the day I spoke with a fellow at Rebers Bridge who told me he saw a blue heron catch, and eat, six trout yesterday at the bridge section. I see them there all the time prowling, and stalking, along the shoreline.