I have started using the high viz yellow mono from suffix and attaching my flouro/tippet to that. I like the visual key you can get from that. I just picked up a 10' 4wt as well to aid in the slack line. Hoping this will increase my success without using the indicator. I do like the up stream nymphing these days as well. With the longer rod you should be able to cast upstream and lift you tip to eat the slack.
