I have a lot of success doing it this way:

dropper fly

_____ / _____ point fly

I use the bottom tag of a surgeons knot for the dropper. To be honest, this rig catches more fish for me than tying to the bend or eye of the fly. Fly-fishermen for the last 100 years or so mostly used droppers to fish multiple flies and today's competition fishermen rig this way.

Only the fish know for sure, though....

EDIT: afish do you prefer a double or triple? Think Heritage once said one was different from the other because of the way it offsets the tag end? I forget and will ask him tomorrow if you or him do not respond.
