I was passing by, noticed the thread.

Darwin once showed me the tie, but my memory is hazy. Fortunately I have a write-up.

Dry fly hook.

Thread the shank.

Deer hair 3+ times shank length.

Even hair tips.

Tie on butts an eye-length behind eye, wrap closely back to rear of shank.

Bend tips forward, wrap in segment-making spiral to behind eye.

Wrap thread rearward a bit, bend hair tips back, tie down into bullet head, with 'topwing' flowing back beyond bend.

Tie off and cement.

Give it a try!
