

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Foul hooking with a tandem rig?

Foul hooking with a tandem rig?

Author: : Railking

Date: : 2013/3/16 17:14:38

URL:

Anybody else have this problem? I was out yesterday fishing a tandem nymph rig and managed to snag one in the back with the dropper fly. It was in a fast run that I figured would be holding some fish and I never felt it hit the fly. Once the drift was through, I started stripping my line in and there he was. Now I would think this was just a freak thing, but it has happened multiple time while fishing a tandem rig. It happened twice in one day over the winter. Are they chasing my front fly and catching themselves on the dropper? Has me stumped...